PATHWAYS INTERVIEWS/PROGRAMS...

The initial Year 12 Pathways Interviews were completed in Term 1. Year 12's are now invited to stop by the Careers Centre to follow up on the discussions, research, etc. The VTAC Application Process and Other Pathways Application Process has commenced this term. Each Year 12 Student will be meeting with Mrs Karlovic, the Pathways & Transitions Leader, to complete their pathway applications via VTAC or direct entry. Information was disseminated via assemblies for both Students (on Monday 5 August) and Parents (on Monday evening, 5 August, in our Auditorium) by Mrs Karlovic.

All Year 12 students have attended the Tertiary Information Service (TIS) Event on Thursday 18 July, held at Victoria University, Footscray Park Campus. The TIS event is an introduction to the VTAC Application Process followed by a mini tertiary institutional expo.

The Careers Centre is open to all students throughout the school day. It is run via interview bookings to ensure students' needs are met. Students may also stop by – an open door policy – for a quick chat, followed by an appointment booking if necessary.

Applying for Scholarships

Have you often stumbled across the word 'scholarship' and thought either it was just more paperwork to complete or that you may not be eligible? Well to help, here is an overview on the different types of scholarships available and where to find them.

A scholarship is an award of financial aid for a student to further their education. They are awarded for many reasons and subsequently based upon various criteria, which usually reflect the values and purposes of the donor or founder of the scholarship award.

There is a wide range of institutional access and equity scholarships, such as those to support students with financial disadvantage, difficult circumstances and the need to relocate for study.

Scholarships are offered by many different organisations. The places to search for scholarships are:

- VTAC - Access and equity scholarships, Indigenous Commonwealth scholarships and Academic Merit scholarships.
- Directly at institutions.
- Government, community and business organisations. For example, those administered by the Victorian Department of Education and Training. Follow this link:<https://www.eduweb.vic.gov.au/scholarships/> . The Department of Education and Training administers over 200 different student scholarship awards annually.

Depending on the type of scholarship you apply for, will determine what paperwork and evidence you will need to provide. Some categories require you to complete a written response, a statement of support or financial evidence. You can find out what is required by looking at the demonstration scholarships application before you apply.

VTAC scholarship applications close on the 11th of October at 5pm. It is important you diarise this and make note of the appropriate paperwork you will need to prepare and provide. Remember, you will never know if you don't apply! Good luck 😊

Important Announcement for Bachelor of Occupational Therapy and Bachelor of Speech Pathology Applicants for 2020

Wyndham Central College Career News

No. 13: 30 August 2019

Back in 2017, ACU changed their pre-requisites for the above mentioned courses by removing some subjects which was approved by their Faculty of Academic Boards. These changes were listed; in the VTAC Year 10 Guide issued in 2017 (as well as 2018 and 2019) and the VTAC future entry requirements page from July 2017 to July 2019 to assist students in choosing units of study for years 11 & 12 to meet course entry requirements.

ACU understands that some future students may have used other ACU documents such as course guides or the 2019 course browser to select their subjects, which technically leaves them ineligible for their chosen course. Students will still be required to meet the required ATAR, however to ensure the most equitable approach to all applicants, they are reviewing the eligibility of those who feel they have been disadvantaged on a case by case basis. To enquire further you can email futurestudy.mel@acu.edu.au or call ACU directly on 03 9953 3548.

Are you interested in making an impact on future generations, their environments, and their communities?

You can gain the knowledge and skills needed to foster young people's emotional and social development through a Bachelor of Youth Work at ACU. Your work will involve helping disenfranchised individuals, playing a role in reducing youth crime, and mentoring vulnerable people with their wellbeing and mental health. This bachelor degree also allows the option to pair studies with sociology or other electives that focus on outdoor experiences, exercise and nutrition.

Career Focus: Occupational Therapist

Occupational therapists assess and treat people who, due to illness, injury or circumstance, are limited in their ability to undertake everyday activities. They assist people to regain lost functions, develop their abilities and social skills as well as maintain and promote independence in their everyday lives to enhance health and wellbeing.

Occupational therapists:

- conduct tests to assess functional, emotional, psychological, developmental and physical capabilities
- plan and direct specific therapeutic programs for individuals using recreational, remedial, social, educational or vocational (job-related) activities
- select and design activities that improve an affected movement or function and help individuals to regain personal care skills
- assist people to gain or regain skills in social, leisure and work environments through graded individual or group therapy and activity programs
- monitor the progress of individuals and assist with the coordination of an appropriate health team
- assist children with disabilities to integrate into education programs in schools
- assess the ability of injured workers to return to their usual employment or perform alternative duties
- design and modify the everyday environment of clients to allow for better access and independence
- advise on the use of specialised equipment
- assess the need for, develop and run health education programs
- act as consultants to industry and government organisations
- undertake research
- teach in academic institutions, generally at tertiary level
- assist with policy development for health and other areas.

Occupational therapists may work in areas such as:

- Aged Care – providing programmes and equipment for people with medical and social problems associated with ageing.
- Disabilities – working with people who have an intellectual, physical or sensory disability through planned activity programmes over long periods of time.
- General medicine – working in hospitals or private practice to assess and treat individuals with physically disabling diseases or injuries.
- Occupational health – assessing the safety of work environments and injured workers, providing rehabilitation and advice about adaptations for their return to the workplace.
- Health promotion – assisting people who want to achieve a balanced and healthy lifestyle.
- Paediatrics – working in hospitals, private practices or schools to assess and treat children with disabilities, developmental delays or learning difficulties.

Wyndham Central College Career News

No. 13: 30 August 2019

- Psychiatry – assessing and treating individuals with mental illness and behavioral disorders through programmes involving such methods as stress management.
- Vocational rehabilitation – assisting injured workers to return to work.

To consider working as an Occupational Therapist, it is helpful to have the following skills and attributes:

- Patience
- Able to show initiative
- A flexible attitude
- Practical, innovative and observant
- Good problem-solving skills
- Good interpersonal and communication skills
- Able to maintain client confidentiality
- Able to work independently or as part of a team

To become qualified as an occupational therapist, you usually have to complete a degree in occupational therapy at university. To get into these courses you usually need to gain you VCE. Prerequisite subjects are usually one or more of English, biology, chemistry and physics are normally required. Make sure you check course entry requirements at your chosen institutions.

Occupational therapists work in public and private healthcare settings. These may include general and children's hospitals, aged-care facilities, rehabilitation centres, day care centres, community health centres, municipal councils, primary and secondary schools, prisons, centres for people with disabilities, independent living centres and other organisations. They may also work in private practice as clinicians, consultants or as injury management advisors. Occupational therapists are due to see a 14.6% increase in employment growth in the next 5 years.

The following table outlines degree options currently available in Victoria: (This does not include single associate degrees or graduate entry courses).
